

1. DEATHS.

1.1 This annexure contains the name of and details concerning each person who, according to the information before the Commission, died during and as a result of the rioting. In Part D, chapter 2, and elsewhere in the Report, various aspects of this annexure are discussed.

2. GENERAL CLASSIFICATION.

2.1 The names of all persons who died in the rioting have been arranged alphabetically according to the SAP divisions in which they were killed or fatally wounded.

2.2 A further classification has been made of cases in which members of the SAP and the Railway Police were responsible for the death of the person and cases in which no such responsibility attaches to them. This classification has no bearing on criminal liability. It is based on the evidence laid before the Commission.

3. SOURCES.

3.1 The main source for the identity of and particulars concerning the deceased was the evidence given by witnesses who appeared before the Commission. These witnesses included policemen who had had a hand in quelling the rioting, newspaper reporters who had witnessed some of the incidents, and persons involved in the rioting under various circumstances and in various capacities.

3.2 Special use was made of the returns furnished by each SAP division of the relevant deaths in its area. These returns were checked and supplemented by means of enquiries and discussions.

3.3.1 The reports of inquests held in accordance with the provisions of the Anatomical Donations and Post-Mortem Examinations Act, Act 24 of 1970, were the main source of information regarding the cause of death. This information was sometimes of great importance in deciding whether or not a case was to be included in the annexure. It was also useful in checking certain details.

3.3.2 The Commission also had at its disposal the reports of inquests held in terms of the Inquests Act, Act 58 of 1959.

3.3.3 The inquest report contains a finding concerning liability for the death of the deceased. Such a finding is based on admissible evidence given before the investigating magistrate.

3.4.1 Memoranda submitted to the Commission without any testimony being given, were also consulted in this regard.

3.4.2 The same was done with reports that appeared in the Press from time to time and with information published by various organisations.

4. DETAILS IN THE ANNEXURE.

4.1 All relevant information obtained from the said sources concerning deaths resulting from the rioting has been arranged in eleven categories in this annexure. These categories are self-explanatory. Each category is indicated by a letter of the alphabet in the columns.

4.1.2 If a letter is followed by a blank space, this signifies either that no information could be obtained from any source or that the answer to the Commission's enquiry was not yet available at the conclusion of its report.

4.2 Category (k) concerns the circumstances in which the deceased died. Details were obtained from the evidence before the Commission. It is possible that the details given and the finding of liability in the inquest report may be at variance. Such differences should be ascribed to the fact that the evidence available to the Commission and that available to the investigating magistrate may have differed in scope and nature.

5. COMPLETENESS.

5.1 Although absolute accuracy and completeness cannot be claimed for this annexure, the Commission nevertheless considers that, if it is incomplete as far as deaths are concerned, there can be but a few that did not come to the Commission's notice.
